Older, Wiser...and More Efficient?

According to the Gallup Poll in January of 2015 only one-third of the baby boomers in the US were still working. Worse, the Star Tribune research finds that as older workers retire productivity slows due to the loss of senior working efficiency and influence on younger workers efficiency. If your facility is facing a similar retirement era, visit our website to read the latest article "Tips for a Lean Approach to Motor Reliability" (<http://www.pdma.com/PdMA-articles.php>).
